Have the high costs of prescription drugs impacted your budget?

The high costs of prescription drugs impact us all. Not only do patients struggle to afford them, but they drive up insurance premiums, strain state and local budgets, and burden taxpayers. As we work to complete a cost-savings analysis, we are looking for additional input and data from state and local governments. If you have data about prescription drug spending in your municipality, please contact Catherine Kirk Robins at catherine@healthcareforall.com or call 410-235-9000.

Please visit www.healthcareforall.com/municipalities to share additional input regarding how high cost prescription drugs are impacting local government budgets.

Would you like to stay involved?

Several local governments and organizations (including, but not limited to: MACo, Annapolis City Council, Baltimore City Council, Prince George's County Council, Montgomery County Council, and Rockville City Council) have joined the 400+ community, business, faith, and labor groups to become a part of the Prescription Drug Affordability Coalition. The coalition works to support the work of the Prescription Drug Affordability Board and ensure all Marylanders have access to affordable medications.

If you are interested in learning more about the coalition, please contact Catherine Kirk Robins at catherine@healthcareforall.com. You can sign the resolution at www.healthcareforall.com/RxResolution
